

White Sox Defeat Walter Johnson—School Title May Be Decided Today

WORST SERIES IN MANY YEARS WITH WHITE SOX IS FINISHED

Four Defeats in Five Games Poorest Showing Nationals Have Made in Chicago Since Griffith Became Manager.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

CHICAGO, June 15.—The Nationals yesterday finished the most disastrous series with the White Sox that they have had here in many years. Losing four out of five games played, something the Washington men have not experienced in any series with the Sox since Griffith took charge of the team. And, on top of everything, to have Walter Johnson beaten so decisively was like rubbing it in. The Washington men had hopes of winning the final game, because Walter always has held the Sox pretty well, but he was clear off his game yesterday.

Eight hits, for a total of twelve bases, is something that Walter is not in the habit of allowing. Two errors were made behind him, but neither of them came in the rounds when the runs were made.

The batting slump of the Nationals seemed to be about over yesterday, but the eight hits that were made did not come at times when they would help in making runs. Only three out of the eight wallops figured at all, in the making of the lone run.

The series is one that long will be remembered by the Nationals. The players are just as determined as ever to be back in the running before they come here again. They figure that they are not getting the breaks at all now, that such luck cannot continue much longer, and when they do start winning look out for them, they say.

Milan has been the worst slumper of the bunch. He has made only one hit during the five games here. His batting slump has been on for nearly two weeks now. He cannot explain it in any way, but is confident that he is going to start in the big game. He has been popping into the air most of the time here. He has struck out four times during the series, which is unusual for him.

Judge is another member of the Washington team that has been suffering badly from lack of hits. He has made three in the five games here. He has been hitting the ball right at some fielder every time. He is meeting it fair, but getting the wrong results. He is pointing the bat right at some one.

With yesterday's run the Nationals made just five during the series. Two of the games were shut-outs and one run was made in two of the other games and three in the game Tuesday. The series might have been worse than it was. The game that was won resulted that way because of the poor pitching by Ed Walsh.

McBride has been playing a good game while here, but his hits have not come often enough to help in any games. He made two doubles yesterday, and one of them scored the only run, but he has been felding his position well in every game. He made one wild throw. That was unusual for him, for it was so high that Judge could not touch the ball on the jump. The throw did not cost anything, though, as Peluch tried to reach second on it and was an easy out. The ball hit the cement roof of the rathskeller and bounced right back to Judge's glove, so it was an easy throw to second.

Jack Fournier was sent into the game today by Manager Rowland for the first time during the series. Fournier has been supplanted by Jack Nease as a first baseman, but he has the reputation of being able to hit Walter Johnson at any and all times, and he proved the truth of the assertion to every one's satisfaction today. He made a three-base drive in the fifth inning, after two were out, died on third and in the seventh made a two-base hit to right field which scored the fourth run for the Sox. As a first baseman, though, Fournier is a back number, except in certain games where he is known to be good with the stick.

The Nationals are bumping into the convention cities on this trip, but are not meeting with much inconvenience on that account. They arrived here Saturday last just as the republican convention was over with, and will be in St. Louis tomorrow, just as the democratic convention is about to come to an end. There are no politicians on the Washington team, so that they are not especially interested in the big meetings.

Buck Weaver robbed Rondau of a two-base hit in the second inning. It was a terrific line drive that Buck caught right off his shoe tops, and would have gone to the left field fence without a doubt.

The infield was dusty, but the players found plenty of mud just as soon as they stepped over the lines where the big tarpaulin was during the heavy rain of the morning. The water splashed up several times when the ball landed in the pools in the outfield.

Jim Scott's hit in the fourth was the foukiest kind of a blow, but it brought in the first pair of runs for the Sox. He did not swing hard on the ball, but just met it easily and seemed to push it over Judge's head.

Ray Schaik was hit by a foul tip in the last round while Walter Johnson was at bat. With the two men out in that round, Morgan had been passed and Foster contributed a single that sent Morgan to third and Johnson was at bat. He swung on the ball hard and fouled it against the little catcher's knee and he went down like a log. For a time it looked as if the leg was broken, but he came up and finished the game.

Griffith wants to get his team home as soon as possible. He has four games in St. Louis, three in Philadelphia and four in New York, though, before he is through with the trip. He would not have any serious objection if it rained for the remainder of the trip. He wants to get his men home, where they can have a lot of morning practice again.

The pitching staff is going all right, but the batters have struck a very dangerous slump. There is nothing to get them out of it but plenty of hard practice. During the stay here in Chicago, Griffith had every man on the team out for a good long practice before each game, but it did not seem to do any good.

The players all feel sore about the Sox grounds. They claim the field has something to do with their bad slump. McBride is the railroad spike in his position yesterday. The infield is the worst in the league, they claim, but that is because it is comparatively new and it takes years for the infield to harden up.

BALTIMORE TOURNEY ON

Middle Atlantic Golf Event Opens With Good Field of Players.

BALTIMORE, June 15.—Although B. Warren Corkran, Jr., the star golfer of this city, will not play in the middle Atlantic tournament, which begins this morning on the Baltimore Country Club links, 110 other followers of the game will tee off in the qualifying round. The experts at the pastime will represent Baltimore, Washington, Wilmington, Richmond and Norfolk.

The first pair will start at 7:15 o'clock and will not return to the clubhouse until about 10. Each player must travel the thirty-six-hole course and, with fifty-five pairs entered, there should be some mighty interesting golf. There, no doubt, will be a large gallery, especially when D. Clarke Corkran, brother of Warren, begins his trip over the links with Tom Sasser. Clarke is one of the most brilliant players at the Roland Park Club, while Sasser is the "old reliable" of the Maryland Country Club.

Forty-five players from the B. C. C. are entered. The M. C. C. has twelve on the list. Next in line come the Columbia and Washington country clubs of Washington, the Country Club of Virginia, from Richmond, and the Norfolk Country Club, Chevy Chase, has only one entry, Donald Castell, but Wilmington's delegation is composed of eight clever players.

New York Yacht Club Regatta.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The annual regatta of the New York Yacht Club will be sailed this afternoon off Glen Cove, Long Island. About thirty yachts of all classes, ranging from thirty-foot sloops to the largest schooner, are entered for class prizes and the cups offered by James Gordon Bennett.

EASTERN AND WESTERN MEET IN IMPORTANT CONTEST TODAY

BY H. C. BYRD.

Eastern and Western meet this afternoon, weather permitting, in the last scheduled game of the high school base ball series. If the former obtains a victory the championship will belong to it, but if the latter wins, Eastern and Central will finish the regular list of contests in a tie. In the event that Eastern and Central are tied for the title after today's contest, another contest will be scheduled, probably for tomorrow.

The chances favor Eastern to win from Western. In fact, the odds would be on Eastern in any game in which it might face one of the other local high schools. Not one of the four teams with which the Light Blue and White has been fighting possesses a battery as capable as belong to it, and a good battery is nine-tenths of high school base ball. If Western is the victor over Eastern, which is not impossible by any means, then there ought not to be a great deal of difference between Central and Eastern in the final contest. The schools close tomorrow, and in the event of a tie the deciding contest probably would have to take place then. Such an outcome would necessitate Tomlin of Eastern pitching on consecutive days, and Eastern's showing would depend almost entirely on how well he could stand up under that strain. If he did not have to work very hard against Western Tomlin might get away all right, but if compelled to go through a close, difficult contest with the Red and White, he might not be able to last through a hard battle with Central.

There is no doubt that Eastern's chances lie with its battery, and as long as Tomlin and Flaherty are kept in good shape it has an excellent chance to finish with the long end of the score in its favor.

In the deciding game of the series between Yale and Princeton yesterday, Link did some remarkable pitching for the Tigers. He beat the Dark Blue by 1 to 0 and his work was among the most brilliant performances of the collegiate year. Yale got but one safe hit, a single made by Bush in the fifth inning, and ten of the Bulldog batters went down by the strikeout route. The hurling of Garfield of Yale was but little inferior to that of Link, as he allowed but four hits and struck out six. The game undoubtedly was one of the best pitchers' battles seen between big college teams this season.

Eleven organizations are to be represented in the handicap swimming meet scheduled Saturday under the auspices of the Washington Canoe Club. Seven of these make their homes in this city and four in Baltimore. From Baltimore will come men of the Doyle Athletic Club, Baltimore City College, Maryland Swimming Club and Baltimore Polytechnic Institute. Washington organizations represented are Washington Swimming Club, Washington Canoe Club, Georgetown Law School, Columbian Prep School, Central High School, St. Alban's School and Western High School.

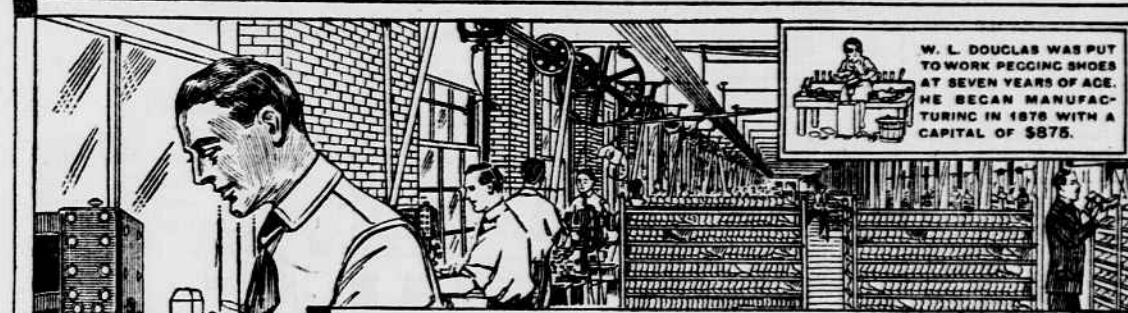

The events and the entries for each follow:

50-yard swim (South Atlantic championship): S. Solomon, Central High; F. C. Rammann, H. S. Palmer, S. J. Cutler, O. Thompson and R. Rutherford, Washington Swimming Club; P. Petre, William E. Duck and H. A. Rowland, Doyle Athletic Club.

50-yard swim (open handicap): J. Bryan, unattached; F. C. Rammann, H. S. Palmer, R. O. Elison, R. Rutherford, R. Knight, Jr., J. A. Huff, Norman W. Stouts, J. W. Burch, Doyle Athletic Club.

440-yard swim (South Atlantic championship): S. Solomon, Central High; F. C. Rammann, H. S. Palmer, S. J. Cutler, O. Thompson and R. Rutherford, Washington Swimming Club; P. Petre, William E. Duck and H. A. Rowland, Doyle Athletic Club.

50-yard swim (open handicap): J. Bryan, unattached; F. C. Rammann, H. S. Palmer, R. O. Elison, R. Rutherford, R. Knight, Jr., J. A. Huff, Norman W. Stouts, J. W. Burch, Doyle Athletic Club.

"THE SHOE THAT HOLDS ITS SHAPE"

'3.00'3.50'4.00'4.50'5.00'6.00

TO THE PUBLIC:—

Many times I have been asked why I stamp my name and the retail price on the bottom of shoes before they leave the factory.

When I began manufacturing July 6, 1876, manufacturers sold their shoes to wholesale and retail dealers throughout the country without any retail price being stamped on them. This gave the dealer an opportunity to charge a higher price than the shoes were actually worth. After giving the matter careful consideration, I believed I could guarantee the wearer more value for his money if I fixed the retail price according to the true value of the shoes.

In 1883 I decided to stamp my name and retail price on the bottom of all shoes before they left the factory and to use my portrait as a trade-mark, thus guaranteeing full value and protecting the wearer against high prices for inferior shoes. For 33 years the name W. L. DOUGLAS has stood for shoes of the highest standard of quality for the price. The retail prices are the same everywhere. They cost no more in San Francisco than they do in New York. Extensive and continuous advertising in newspapers and periodicals throughout the country has made the W. L. Douglas shoes known everywhere.

My time is still devoted to this great business and that my plan of fixing the retail price has been successful.

It is attested by the fact that the sales are now the largest in the history of the business.

amateur base ball games were postponed. Contests did not take place in the leagues and there were no games between independent clubs.

Shortstop Griffith has been elected to the captaincy of the Business High School base ball team for next year. Griffith has been one of the best infielders in the series, his work at bat and in the field being much better than the ordinary. He should make the Stenographers a capable leader.

Mrs. Gavin Defeats Miss Hollins in Metropolitan Tourney by One Up.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Mrs. W. A. Gavin, the little Englishwoman with the "big" fighting spirit, played a plucky uphill battle against Miss Marion Hollins of Westbrook yesterday in the second round of the women's metropolitan golf championship fray at Baltusrol, and when she holed out a twelve-inch putt for a half on the home green she had overtaken and defeated Miss Hollins, an ex-metropolitan champion, one up.

What is more, the English woman rolled off an eighty-five in doing it, which was three strokes better than the score winning the gold medal in the qualifying round, although there was a putt or two not actually holed out. Cards:

Gavin: 4 4 3 8 4 6 7 6 4-45
Hollins: 4 5 4 3 5 5 6 4 4-40-85
But: 5 4 3 5 5 6 4 4-44
But: 5 4 4 6 5 7 4 4-43-87
